Message:

The United States of America Governance guarantees that voters have the legal right to choose our own elected officials. However, it is apparent during that the election process lacks credibility when elected officials openly seek to steal district lines with the intent to reduce the economic development from underserved communities for the sole purpose of gaining political leverage and power. This type of tactic warrants commissioning a separate independent entity to ensure that the election process is protected by taking away the power of influence on every level of government.
