Message:

I am represented by a congressman who could not be further from me politically. Carving up Austin into districts purely for Republican gerrymandering purposes fundamentally undermines faith in democracy. Considering the violent insurrection at the Capitol and the baseless conspiracy theories spouted by our former President, it is the duty of all elected officials to ensure free, fair, and impartial elections that allow each citizen's voice to be heard. Allying my corner of Austin with a swath of the state that stretches through rural areas to the edges of Fort Worth simply to stack the deck against Democrats is duplicitous. I implore you to draw the lines fairly so that voters feel enfranchised, rather than the opposite.

The future of our democracy is at stake. It comes down to the basic rules of the playground: play fair and don't change the rules just because you won this round.
