Message:

Rural Texans are very happy with the relationships they have with their elected officials. Our Senators and State Representatives make time for constituent visits and spend time in our home towns. They are well aware of the unique issues of rural Texas that we do not share with urban areas, such as access to hospitals, property rights, rural broadband, agriculture and ranching issues and schools districts.

The Vaccine is the perfect example of how we need Senators and Representatives who are mindful of particular rural problems and needs. We do not want to be lumped in with big cities like Austin.

Rural Texas is basically who carried the Republican vote for Texas.
