Message:

An independent redistricting commission is important to prevent Gerrymandering. It's always been wrong and has already worsened political discourse and representation. Open and transparent records, communications and maps should give be given for a sufficient amount of time for review and accountability particularly in communities of color. Silencing and depriving people of a district based on their race and economic status has to be corrected when the new districts are created. Trust in our government is already damaged for many citizens. This could be the first step for building back that trust.
