Message:

Gerrymandering is flagrant abuse of the powers you temporarily hold on our behalf. Send this scheme back for major, fairer revisions. Geometric shapes based on features of the land and waterways should be a guiding principle. Since you don't trust me, I struggle to overlook a failing on your part, but it makes me less likely to trust you or anything you support for at least 10 years (when climate change, so overlooked but imminent nonetheless, will render the next census irrelevant). You might infer from these comments that I'm pretty agitated about a lot that's been going on in Texas for a few years now, and you'd be right about that. Family and good friends feel the same way. You have lost interest in our purpose and now wander about a political landscape that undermines the common good. I pity you (and certainly won't vote for you in any future election). A change of heart and action with an apology would be nice.
