Message:

To the Special Committee,

I live in Houston. I write now to you because the proposed draft congressional map released this week makes a mockery of the basic principles of representation and democracy. No-one, independent expert or partisan hack, can begin to entertain the idea that your redistricting of Houston is meant to promote the fair representation of Houstonians. Whatever happened to the moderate, Republican, democracy-loving representatives of Texas? It appears that you are on your hands and knees appealing to the extremists in your base, hoping that the patriots are not paying attention. You are wrong.

If this proposed redistricting becomes reality, your constituents and your country will remember your betrayal of our democratic principles. We will pay you back in kind.

Regards,
Thomas N
