Message:

I am disgusted and dismayed at the proposed gerrymandering of Denton and Denton County. There is no good reason to chop up Denton County and link it with the panhandle, not only far away geographically, but massively far apart in needs and issues. Both Denton County and the Panhandle deserve representation attuned to their own constituency, impossible when the areas are so different. Why should I not believe that this is all for un-American reasons? The worst part is that we have the knowledge on how to get fair representation easily and precisely. This article from Wired magazine, May 2017, tells how redistricting can be achieved mathematically so that representation most closely follows the will of the voters. If you don't use something like this, I can only assume that you are trying to overturn the will of Texas voters.
